Overview

Christina Roth is an experienced paralegal who provides thorough and dependable support in complex civil litigation across state and federal court systems in the healthcare industry. She drafts, edits, and manages a wide variety of legal documents, including pleadings, motions, discovery requests and responses, subpoenas, demand packages, and charges of discrimination. Christina prepares and files documents in district and appellate Courts, ensuring accuracy, compliance, and efficiency throughout all stages of litigation.

Christina is highly skilled in e-discovery management, maintaining organized databases and using leading e-discovery platforms to review, annotate, redact, and produce electronically stored information. She assists attorneys with case preparation for depositions, hearings, and trials and continues to support them after verdicts through appeals, judgment recording, and collections.

Christina also conducts legal research, drafts memorandums, and manages attorney calendars, case deadlines, and files with precision and care. Her experience interviewing witnesses and clients strengthens her ability to gather information and contribute meaningfully to case strategy and client service.
